

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

A PURE, healthful, grape cream of tartar powder, the only kind that can be used without impairing the healthfulness of the food. Makes the biscuit, cake and pastry more digestible and wholesome. Absolutely free from alum and phosphate of lime.

Chemical analyses show the low priced powders made of alum to contain large quantities of sulphuric acid, and that a portion of the alum from alum baking powders remains unchanged in the food! You cannot afford to take alum and sulphuric acids into your stomach.

BUNCH OF HOT ONES.

Centralia Farmers Sold by Clothing Drummer.

Over near Centralia according to the Courier, there is a bunch of hot farmers who claimed they had been swindled by a mail order clothing house now doing business through the country.

The scheme is for the mail order man to drive out to the farmer's house accompanied by some man the farmer knows and has confidence in. After claiming the merchants are robbing the people, the agent offers to sell three suits and a dress pattern for $39.50, taking a note for that amount. Upon getting the note, the buyer is informed that he will have to buy the lining, which will cost but little and he can buy it of the man who takes their measure for the suits or any home merchant.

When the men came in to be measured they found they must buy the lining of the mail order house or not have their goods made up. The cheapest lining shown them was $4.50 per suit, little better than calico one of the men said to us, and the other grade, ordinary satteen, at $6.50 per suit.

To show how the graft is worked, we call attention to Dennis Jennings' experience. He gave his note for $39.50, and when his package came Tuesday from Chicago, on the box was marked C. O. D. $19.50 for lining. In other words he three suits and dress pattern cost him $59. A merchant in whose store we saw the lay out, told us that he was selling in his store three suits of similar quality, only better made, for $20.25 or $26.76 each, just 25 cents more than the mail order house charged for lining. Mr. Jennings said that he felt like he ought to prosecute the outfit, but he saw no way to do it. A number of other farmers said the same thing.

It's too bad, but the farmers ought to learn to set the dogs on agents. Wise is the man who buys at home; it is cheaper and better.

For Killing a Preacher.

Tulsa, I. T., Oct. 14.—In the cases of C. E. Wilson and Frank McGlothlin, deputy United States marshals, indicted for murder in the first degree for killing the Rev. Sylvester Morris, an old Methodist minister, here two months ago, Judge Lawrence denied an appeal from the decision three weeks ago, when he refused the officers liberty on habeas corpus. The officers will be returned to the Muskogee federal jail, to await trial. The Rev. Mr. Morris was mistaken for a bootlegger, one night, and shot when he ignored a command from the officers to halt.

Village Ways.

In discussing the action of Fulton, Fayette and other towns in ordering the hitch racks removed from the square, the Springfield Leader-Democrat says:

Springfield once used the square as a city lot and camping grounds. When the effort was made to remove the farmers, city hacks, job wagons, etc., a mighty roar went up. "New town" got out handbills inviting the farmers to go over there and many went. The ordinance was finally repealed and the farmers came back. Finally another ordinance was passed closing the square as a public market and this time it held. We had an awful fight to keep the cows up and pigs were at one time allowed to run at large.

Our Village ways are passing. 'We still dump garbage in the alleys let chickens range in our neighbors' yards and block the sidewalks with displays of goods, but all this will be changed. People, as a rule, resent a change, but after they get used to it would not return to the same old way.

Out of Sight.

"Out of sight, out of mind," is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that's been treated with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It's out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles, too and chilblains disappear under its healing influences. Guaranteed by F. T. Clay, druggist. 25c.

"Good evening, Governor! And how are all the little governors?" Thus greeted the St. Louis Times. There are no "little governors" in the executive mansion of Missouri. The home of Governor and Mrs. Folk is childless. Nor were there any babies in the mansion in Governor Dockery's day nor in the years when Governor Stephens held Missouri's highest office. Governor Stone's children were almost grown up when he was chief executive, Governor Marmaduke was a bachelor, Governor Phelps a widower and Governor Hardin had no children. In the last quarter of a century only in the days of Governor Francis was the mansion filled with babies, now big boys, with "little governors" in their own homes. In general the Rooseveltian family idea has not prevailed at Missouri's capitol, remarks the Columbia Herald.—Nevada Mail.

Father Saves Negro Who Attacked His Daughter.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 14.—Pretty little Ida May Broadway, the 3-year-old daughter of Leonard Broadway, a butcher and dairyman, living about four miles east of the city, was brutally assaulted by Henry Johnson, a 19-year-old negro.

The negro was caught after a chase by a posse headed by the girl's father, and composed of enraged neighbors. There was a desperate attempt made to lynch the negro, and this was only prevented by the girl's father, who pleaded that the law be allowed to take its course.

The little girl had been left alone in the house with the negro Johnson, soon after noon, while her parents went to the home of Mr. Broadway's father, a short distance away. The negro was asleep in a room in the house and the little girl was locked in the house. The first the parents knew of the crime was when the little girl ran screaming to her grandfather's house, where she told her trouble.

Newspaper men chartered an automobile and met the wagon containing the negro and transferred him to the machine, placing him between them and taking him to the police station.

In a cell at the station the negro admitted that he had committed the deed, but did not think, he said, he had done anything wrong.

If you take DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills you will get prompt relief from backache, weak kidneys, inflammation of the bladder and urinary troubles. A week's treatment for 25c. Sold by Frank Clay, druggist.

Mother Chooses Husband.

Washington, Oct. 14.—The Secretary of Commerce and Labor signed an order refusing admittance to the United States to little John Kriegel, of the Netherlands.

John Kriegel left his wife and child in Holland and settled in Grand Rapids, Mich., where he now has a comfortable home for them. A month ago he sent money across the sea for Hendrika his wife, and their little boy to join him.

The doctors at Ellis Island decided that John was an imbecile and refused to permit him to land. The law does not permit exceptions even in the separation of mother and child, and John was ordered deported.

His mother, forced to choose between son and husband, decided in favor of the husband. Another relative will take little Johan back to Holland, and his father and mother will live in Michigan.

Escaped From an Asylum.

Seattle, Wash., October.—Arthur E. Fowler, ex-secretary of the Japanese-Korean exclusion league of Seattle, escaped Tuesday from the asylum for insane in Stellacom and came to Seattle, where it is believed he is being taken care of by friends. Fowler was arrested in Bellingham three weeks ago, examined by a lunacy board and sent to the asylum. He started his work against the Orientals in Seattle and enrolled the labor unions for a nominal membership fee. He expected to drive Japanese and Koreans out of this part of the country. Ultimately he hoped to drive them out of the United States. It is said that his exclusion work drove him insane.

To Protect the Indians.

Guthrie, Ok., Oct. 14.—John W. Sooshorn, assistant United States district attorney, has brought mandamus proceedings against several persons in Blaine county to remove them from Indian allotments which they have leased from Indians without the approval of the Secretary of the Interior and are now occupying in defiance of the orders of the Indian agent in Darlington. Similar proceedings will be instituted in every county in Oklahoma, where Indian allotments are held in this manner.

The Oklahoma Indians, always in need of money, is easily persuaded to leave valuable allotments for a mere pittance at the sight of ready cash. In this way allotments worth several hundred dollars a year each for agricultural purposes are being possibly for less than fifty dollars a year.

Harder "Starting" Now.

The Moberly Democrat very sensibly remarks:

"No business has changed more than has the newspaper business in the last few years. They used to eke out a bare existence for a number of years, but now, it either makes money or goes 'busted' in a short time. It is fast becoming one of the most expensive businesses, in so far as equipment is concerned, in which one can engage and the amount of capital necessary to make it a success has largely increased."

The Democrat speaks advisedly. The time has passed when starting a newspaper is a pastime to be indulged in by every aspiring genius as a hot air value or little clique of politicians who have some ax to grind. The average newspaper, is now printed from a plant which excels in cost that of the average store by several thousand dollars. The day of cheap labor and cheap material in the printing office are over, and the constantly increasing demands for good service make the publishing of a newspaper a serious business and one which requires the closest attention.

The history of newspaperdom in Chillicothe is marked by the wrecking of many ambitious hopes and the survival of the old-timers, and this is the experience in many other cities. As expenses increase the weaklings drop out and he is not only brave but foolish who bucks the game with a new paper unless he has money to burn.—Chillicothe Constitution.

Mrs. Chadwick Very Low.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—Mrs. Cassie Chadwick was reported much worse at the woman's hospital ward in the Ohio penitentiary. Her pulse is very weak, and she is partly delirious.

Mrs. Chadwick is serving a ten-year term in the penitentiary for wrecking the First National bank in Oberlin, O. For some days she has been unable to retain nourishment and she is seemingly indifferent to her fate, and apparently resigned to the fact that her end is fast approaching. She has been in the penitentiary since January 12, 1906, and with good time to her credit would have gotten out November 26, 1911.

Her trouble is attack of heart failure and weak stomach, the latter, according to the physician, being caused directly by indulging in rich food. When she first came to the prison, Mrs. Chadwick sent to a fashionable restaurant in the city for her meals and ate the richest viands. Finally the prison officials ordered that she be compelled to eat the regular prison fare.

Mrs. Chadwick made profession of the Roman Catholic faith.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—Before the eyes of his two small children, Frederick Butt shot his wife to death at her home. The man was a hard drinker and beat his wife. She had separated from him and applied for a divorce.

Average Kansas Corn Crop.

Topeka, Oct. 14.—A probable yield of 18 million bushels of corn for Kansas is estimated by E. J. Smiley, secretary of the Kansas Grain Dealers' association. This is only 7 million less than Secretary Coburn's estimate of the crop of 1906, and about the average of the past five years.

The corn is poor according to Mr. Smiley, in the counties of Jewell, Mitchell, Smith, Osborne, Phillips, Rooks, Norton and Decatur, and is insufficient for the home demands. Corn is even now being shipped into these counties and retails readily at 60 cents per bushel.

There is an average crop in Reno, Barton, Rice, Kingman, Harper, Barber and a fair crop in Pawnee, Stafford and McPherson counties. Southeast Kansas, in Bourbon, Allen, Woodson, Wilson, Neosho, Crawford, Cherokee and Labette counties, with the exception of the valley or bottom lands, has poor corn, the yield being light and the quality poor.

Stock in Their Cars Too Long.

K. C. Star.
Fines aggregating $2,000 were assessed against the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific; Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and Burlington railroads by Judge Smith McPherson of the United States circuit court. The order was filed in the federal court at St. Joseph, Mo., where A. S. Van Valkenburgh, United States district attorney, brought the case. The fines were for violating the twenty-eight-hour law in the shipment of live stock.

There were twenty cases in all and the minimum fine of $100 was assessed in each case. Ten cases were against the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, eight against the Burlington and two against the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe. The maximum penalty prescribed by law is $500 for each violation. Mr. Van Valkenburgh insisted that the maximum fine be imposed, as the livestock had been kept in transit for from thirty-eight to forty-eight hours without rest or water. The law prescribes twenty-eight hours as the limit.

A Million For a Divorce.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 14.—Augustus J. Hartje is credited with having increased to 1 million dollars his cash offer to his wife if she would admit the truth of the charges he filed against her at the outset of their now notorious divorce suit. In an interview the paper manufacturer admitted having offered to pay Mrs. Hartje $600,000 if she would consent to a divorce quietly. Mrs. Hartje refused this.

Hartje said: "I declare and reiterate that if Mrs. Hartje will make a full avowal of the truth of the charges against her in connection with Tom Madine, the coachman, and turn over the children to me, therefore permitting the divorce, decree I seek to be granted, I will see that she lives as well as she ever did."

"Another lamentable confession of weakness," said John F. Scott, father of Mrs. Hartje, when he heard of the offer. "If Hartje has his case won, as he now asserts, why does he hand out 1 million dollars? Let him keep his money. He will have use for every cent of it."

Compelled to Wait a Year.

The divorcees hereafter will not be able to secure freedom from a bad alliance one hour and contract another the following hour. The new law which went into effect on the 4th of this month, makes it necessary to wait twelve months at least, before a new knot is permitted to be tied. In order to make sure that the parties asking for marriage licenses are entitled to receive it, the clerk of the district court is compelled by law to require a witness who shall under oath affirm that neither party has been divorced within the year and that they are competent to the best of their knowledge to enter the matrimonial state.

Fell into an Abandoned Well.

Joplin, Mo., Oct. 14.—Harry Morrison, 10 years old, a son of Robert Morrison, a miner living at Riceville, a camp a few miles southwest of here, plunged headlong into an abandoned mine shaft 100 feet deep. For nearly an hour he floated about in the water at the bottom of the shaft, part of the time clinging to the timbers lining the sides. He was taken from his perilous position to outward appearances not seriously hurt. Hedled later, however, from internal injuries.
